The four class presidents and the president of the SCA want to know what's happening!

Mathews High School

P.O. Box 38

Mathews Virginia 23109

In one of the innovative pep rallies, mock cheerleader Daniel Driskell watches as Jonathan Lewis rouses the crowd.

On a cold winter's day in French III, students give up learning for a few minutes to gather around the heater and try to keep warm.

Inquiring Minds Need to Know. . .

Varsity boys' basketball players huddle around new coach, Mr. Lee Underwood, to listen to some team strategy.

Santa Claus (a.k.a. Sareeta Spriggs) visits Mathews High School to bring joy and cheer on the first TGIF day.

Inquiring minds need to know. . .EVERYTHING! We want to know about:

Clubs. There were 26 organized groups. What were they? Who joined what? Did the clubs do anything during the school year?

People. We started the year with 387 students and 46 staff. Who were they? Were they Sophomores, Seniors, Freshmen, Juniors?

Athletics. There were twenty-fi teams. Who played? Who won? Wh teams did we beat (or lose to)?

Student Life. Throughout the year, lo of things happened, besides students g ing to class and studying. What we some of those events? Who did them?

US! How many pictures did we get i Who's in the most?

Band members show their spirit for the Blue Devils by cheering in the stands.

The Dramatic Literature class performs their play "The Night of the New and Improved Christmas."

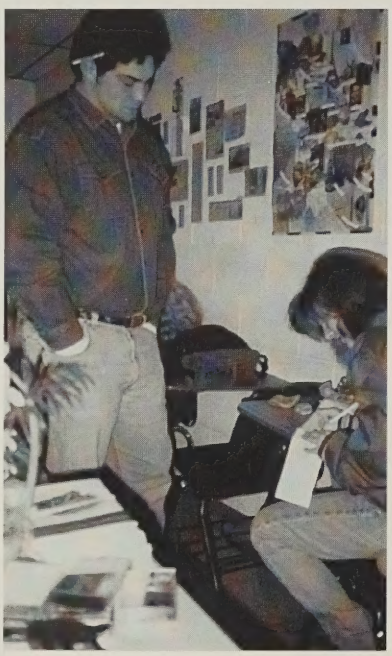
Inquiring Minds Need to Know About Clubs



Senior Jonathan Lewis purchases a 1995 yearbook from Tennille Keatts during the winter yearbook sale.

FBLA members award candy to every student who knows the answers to the American Enterprise contest.

Clubs. What do we know about them?

Some are very active in community service. FBLA competed in and won State competitions, and was the power behind the drive for a youth center. Beta participated in activities like the Blood Drive, and attended the State Convention. FCA met monthly for a variety of activities, including speakers and breakfasts with neighboring clubs.

Some met just for fun. Ski club spent some Sundays at Wintergreen, and a lon weekend at Sugarloaf in West Virginia.

Some worked at school. The teache and office assistants helped with whatev needed doing. The band and chorus g credit for their classwork and participate extra-curricularly, too. The band even vi ited Myrtle Beach, SC for a competitio

Inquiring Minds Need to Know About People

Steadies Jamie Penne and Kelly Leckey take in the Friday night Homecoming football game and halftime festivities.

During last block on February 14, classrooms are flooded with flowers. Carrie Peters admires Corrine Richardson's surprises.

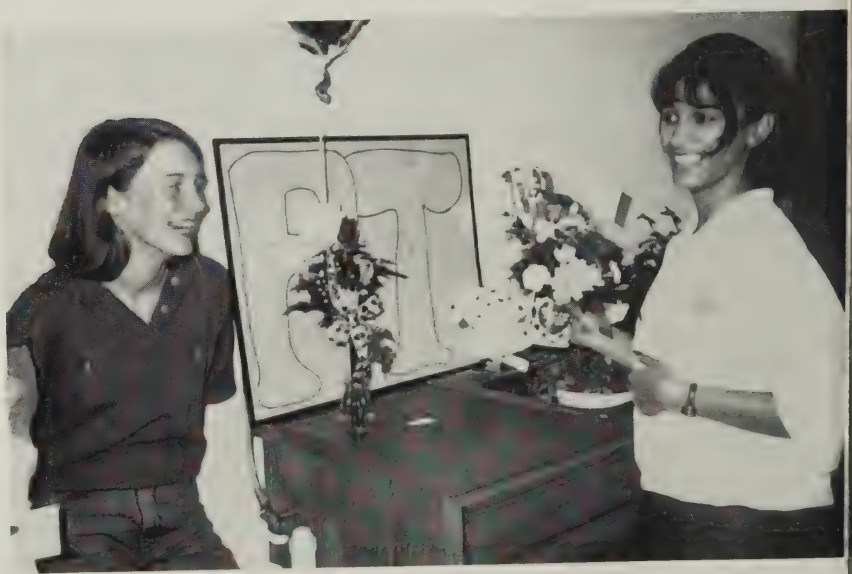
People. What do we know about them?

There are now 370 very different personalities (we've lost a few since September!). Eighty-five Seniors. Ninety-six Juniors. Seventy-nine Sophomores. One hundred ten Freshmen. One hundred ninety one males. One hundred seventy nine females.

Some have no problem academically. Some struggle academically. Some could have no problem, but don't make the effort.

Some are enthusiastic about their lives and get the most out of everything. They join clubs, they play sports, they have future goals. Some are apathetic, and don't know what they're missing.

People. What do we know about them? They're US!

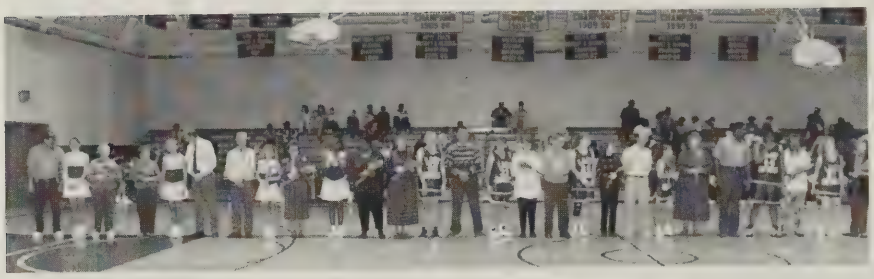


Student artists Brian Phillips, Lena Knuth, Ryan Hooley, and Martin Richardson designed caricatures of many of the teachers for Youth Art Month. Can you recognize who they all are? (Mr. Priest, Mr. Anthony, Mr. Sanderson, Mr. Green, Mrs. Jackson, Mr. Grif, Mr. Goforth, Mr. Brown, Mr. Shuber, Mr. Johnston, Mr. Walker, Mr. Payton, Mrs. Grif, Mr. Bohn, Mr. Ulsaker, Mr. Lanford, Mr. Fraser, Mr. Dutton, Mr. Shumaker, Mr. Underwood)

Cheerleaders and Varsity players on "Injured Reserve" strike a pose.

It's been a thirteen year wait, but finally Senior sponsor Mr. Jeff Bohn helps Heather Marshall measure cap size.

Senior cheerleaders, basketball players, and proud parents are introduced at the last home game of the season.



The Class of 1995 — Seniors AT LAST!

Senior tailback Aaron Downey offers his mother a flower, as his parents are introduced to the crowd on Senior Night.

The Josten's man, Mr. Mike Price, takes Senior supply orders from an eager crowd.

Exchange student and Senior Homecoming Queen candidate Ana Longoria is introduced at halftime, escorted by Junior Chris Newsome.

Senior Queen Candidate Jennifer Munn, escorted by classmate William Earl Sadler, walks to the center of the field, where she will be crowned 1994 Homecoming Queen by Mr. Lanford.

The third Senior candidate for Queen, Nikki Snyd escorted to the halftime festivities by Junior Dobson.

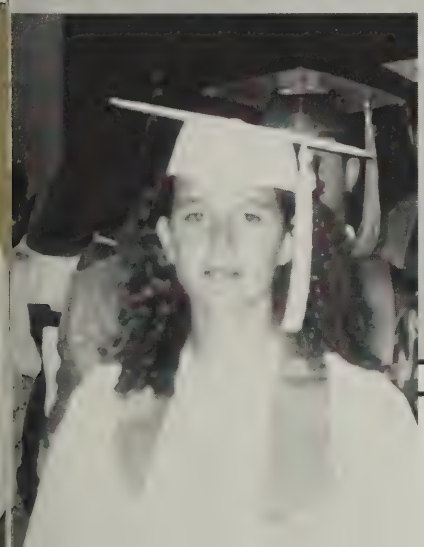
They've finished classwork; Seniors come in on Thursday only to practice for their big night.

The Class of '95: The Countdown Continues

Most Seniors gather for Baccalaureate, planned by the Mathews Ministerial Association.

The soon-to-be-Grads march into the auditorium on Sunday, June 4, for the short service. And then, only three days left of high school!

About two-thirds of the class attend the optional Baccalaureate, the first real part of the Graduation ceremony.



When it's over, there's lots of time to meet with family and friends on the front lawn.

Our Mexican exchange student, Ana Longoria, exits the auditorium.

Junior Representative on the Queen's Court Elaine Miller and her escort Robert Ramsey head for the center of the field for the halftime introductions.

Junior Samantha Martin and her escort Adam Hue are on their way to the 50 yard line with the rest of Queen's Court.

Juniors listen to the particulars of the magazine drive from Mr. Rene Uluo, the rep of the fund raising company.

The Class of 1996 — Juniors Are the Busiest

A high point in the high school experience! Class rings are finally here, and the Juniors line up to get theirs!

The first thing people see when they enter the prom is the entryway, and the Juniors want it to be perfect.

The ceiling's up. The decorations are next: One of the big jobs is suspending the moon in the middle of the auditorium.

The decoration committees have a long way to go before Friday night!

At one of the new and improved pep assemblies, these "volunteers" compete to see who will find a hidden piece of candy deep in the whipped cream first!

Let's Show Some Spirit!

The cheerleaders and their sponsor, Mrs. Nancy Rowe, tried some new things this year at pep assemblies — to get the student body more fired up than they've been lately. The methods? Funny skits and contests, with some cheering thro in. The results? With the help of will student and staff volunteers, we had so great laughs — and maybe learned a li about Spirit, too!

Nurses Earn Certification

This is one class where students definitely get hands-on training for future careers. After learning their skills at the high school, they spent second semester visiting the nursing home in the Courthouse to practice caring for the eld patients there. In the spring, the g took the state certification test to beco Geriatric Nurse's Aides. It was a yea learning.

SCA: A New Outlook

The SCA became an active force this year, after adding a Senate nominated by the faculty to work with the elected members. They put up a Christmas Angel Tree to collect gifts for a needy family. They organized TGI-Fridays, for fun, and directed the Prom Promise, which included a visit from the Grim Reaper and a planting: They put a Japanese cherry in the bus circle, to remind us all of people affected by drunk drivers. Second Annual Clean-Up Day was in May. Students and faculty worke the morning improving the school, a the afternoon, had a picnic and activ on the football field.

SCA sponsor Mrs. Wesson tries to take the first shovel of dirt, but finds the ground is a little hard.

Mathews High School Library

Each and every student and teacher asks Mrs. Valdrighi and Mrs. Hutson in the main office for help at least once during the year.

The Staff of Mathews High. . .

A TRADITION OF EXCELLENCE!

In a small school like ours, there are two principals and thirty two teachers, backed up by three office staff, three maintenance staff, and six kitchen staff. All have to wear more than one hat each. Where else could you find the school nurse teaching? The guidance counselc and the assistant principal coaching? An who sponsors twenty-five teams an twenty-six clubs, including the creation c this annual, the newspaper, the prom? It definitely enough for one small staff!

Besides talking to Mr. Dutton in the Guidance Office, students can go to Secretary Mrs. Mountford, or Counselor Mrs. Wesson for help with class and personal problems.

Principal Mr. Lanford and Assistant Principal Mr. Fraser can be found near the cafeteria monitoring the morning activities.

Inquiring Minds Need to Know What's Happening!

We're a lucky school! Two Santas honor us with a visit (although some Scrooges would have sworn that they were Sareeta Spriggs and Erin Peters)!

Student Jennifer Keenan demonstrates one of the instruments in the new PrinTech (Principles of Technology) lab at the Open House in January.

What's happening? Sometimes it seems like there's too much going on to worry about the education part of school. We started off running, with games and preparations for Homecoming. And it was one of the best Spirit Weeks we've had — lots of participation! All of a sudden it was time for the Thanksgiving break, and then Christmas holidays. We all got in the mood with a TGIF costume day, cookies and punch, and a concert. January, it was time to gear up for exam Thank goodness this year we went back two exams per day and early dismiss There was a long stretch between exa and the Easter holiday, as usual, but had a whole week off in April, so it w OK. And then, we had to get ready Prom. June 9 became the next target d — and we were all a year older!

The football team attacks the buried Bernie Williamson, as the crowd eggs them on. Why? Bernie, named as the mock "Homecoming Queen," tries to make one last walk, escorted by "Cheerleader" Daniel Driskell, at a Friday pep assembly.

It's just been announced: Jennifer Munn is our new Homecoming Queen! Mr. Lanford waits to put her crown on her, while cheerleader Casey Love attaches her new banner.

Senior Jonathan Lewis lets upcoming freshmen know what to expect of high school life.

It's the opening assembly on September 6th, and Senior Nicole Snyder leads the school in saying the Pledge of Allegiance.

The new Seniors have waited a long time to sit on the front rows. Now, the first day of school has started: The assembly's over, and it's on to 1st block.

Mr. Lanford addresses the students on the first day of school, September 6, 1994.

Future class assistants wait in the library on the first day of school for their teacher assignments.

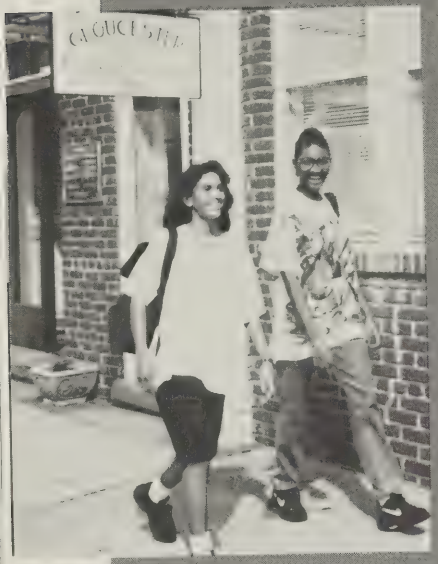
Labor Day + One Week = Market Days

Market Days. Three days of craft booths, food booths, musical entertainment, and lots of socializing! From Thursday, September 8 through Saturday, September 10, thousands of residents and visitors meand through the courthouse area, cluding many of the high sch students, who not only enjoy sights and sample the foods, also help out in the booths.

Laura Daniel and Jennifer Munn DO NOT want their picture taken!



Corrine Richardson and Tarsha Johnson check out everything at Market Days.

The Drum Majors lead the band for the first time at Market Days.

The drummers try to keep up with the rest of the band.

Brad Livermon and Aaron Downey relax after the band's performance.

Steve Bing and Robbie Hudgins take in all the sights at Market Days.

Superintendent Harry Ward and Assistant Superintendent Dr. Mary Helliesen work hard at the Mathews County Public Schools' booth but still find time to give the camera a big smile.

High school students can always be found at Market Days on Friday.

David Jarvis patiently waits for the band to start playing.

Good friends Jessica Morgan and Shannon Jarvis explore Market Days.

These friends start at the firehouse in their walk to see all of the exhibits.

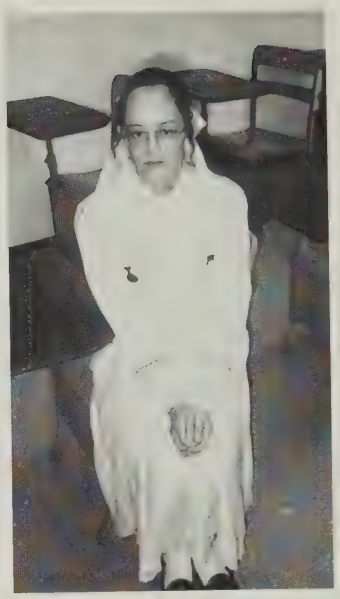
Homecoming Week —
A Spirited Time for Everyone!

Woodstock Day: Lindsay Thomas and Samantha Hardesty dress in style — at least according to the late 60's state of mind.

Fifties Day: Tasha Wiggins sports the pony tail, cardigan, and full skirt look.

Fifties Day: Stacy Willis shows off her bell bottomed polyester pant suit, with a perfectly outdated hairdo to match.



Fifties Day : Greaser Roland Foster and poodle skirted Nikki Snyder get ready to burst into dance!

Woodstock Day: Shavon Forrest reminds us all of one of the messages of the Woodstock generation — Peace!

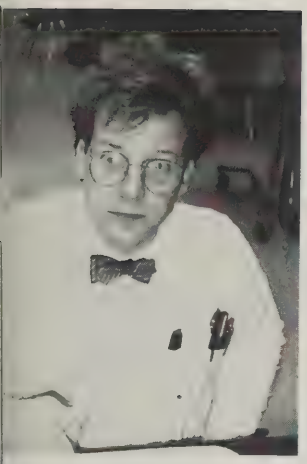
Woodstock Day: The late 60's might have been a time of turmoil, but Skye Smith and Jason Thompson choose to remember the flower children.

This group of Woodstock hippies signals Peace to the World!

Woodstock Day: Even laid back hippies like Martin Richardson have to take time for a lunch break.

Fifties Day: The ramp is still the place to park, even during Spirit Week, for Michael Hurst, who shined his penny loafers and rolled up his tee-shirt sleeves for the occasion.

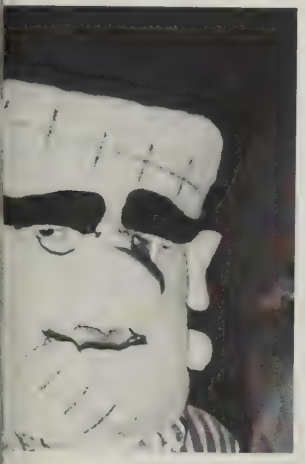
Fifties Day: Steadies Jamie Penne and Kelly Leckey get into the Fifties spirit wholeheartedly, with black leather, greased hair (for Jamie), pony tail (for Kelly), and anklets.



Hallowe'en Day: "Mad Scientist" and Earth Science teacher Mr. Shawn Stickler demolishes a tray of spaghetti at lunch.

Hallowe'en Day: The mystery couple kept everybody guessing for a good long time — but we finally figured it out. It's Jenny Wood and Janet Bing!

Hallowe'en Day: The sexy new flag girl turned out to be only Roland Foster. What a disappointment to the guys!



Hallowe'en Day: Everyone knows Frankenstein's monster — but no one could identify his "inner self." We should have known — it's Andrew McElligott.

Hallowe'en Day: One of the "cutest" couples walking the halls turns out to be Marie Callis and Curt Faulkner.

Hallowe'en Day: Did the fairy godmother's wand work magic for the princess? No way. It's Sareeta Spriggs as the wand waver — but beauty queen Latisha McIntyre came dressed without any magic help.

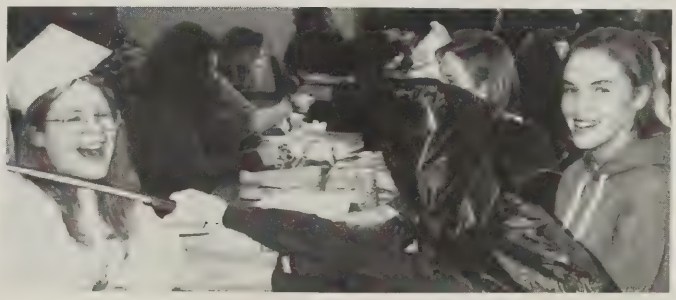
Hallowe'en Day: The crypt keeper, alias John Paul Brown, hides near the cafeteria, so that he can intimidate unsuspecting passersby.

Hallowe'en Day: The bird on her shoulder's not real, but "pirate" Jennifer Munn let everyone talk to it anyway. After all, it's that kind of week!

Hat Day: Kathleen Thompson arrives in class prepared to handle the Tough Jobs!

Hat Day: Sheik Ken Noonan and Norseman Matt Griffith prove that all walks of life are welcome here!

Hallowe'en Day: Joanie Davis has waited thirteen years to wear these robes. No magic wand of Tennille Keatts can change her goal!



Homecoming Friday: Blue & Gold!

High School Halls Fill With Painted Faces

Jennifer Rowe combines Halloween and Homecoming all into one.

By Friday of Homecoming Week, everyone was wired. Participation throughout the week was great — better than it's been for years, and we all knew that Blue & Gold Day would be even wilder! Mr. Shumaker contributed to the cause by painting faces all morning; classes who had floats in the back worked on them at every chance; the day's and the week's finale was a pep assembly. And rumors floated around all day that something was planned for the assembly that would be worth seeing! The cheerleaders kept the secret: a mock Homecoming Court, with footba players as members! On a vo by cheering, Bernie Williams was crowned "Queen," am roars of laughter from t crowd!

Coach Shumaker demonstrates face pai ing on model Brian Callis.

Edward Romero, Mikey Bennett, and Jason Callis proudly show their blue and gold faces.

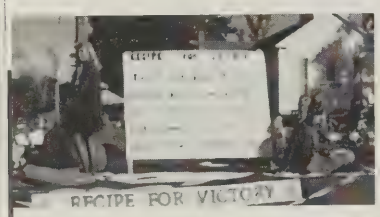
It's a Washout for Friday!

Homecoming Parade and Game Moved to Monday!

After all of the hype of Spirit Week, the Homecoming Parade and the game had to be postponed until Monday night, because of rain. When Monday afternoon finally arrived, much of the enthusiasm had diminished, but, for those who attended, the parade was as entertaining as usual. The Juniors won first prize for their float, while the Seniors won the "Principal's Award." The football game with West Point was a victory, and, at halftime, Jennifer Munn wa crowned 1994 Homecomin Queen by Mr. Lanford.

The Flag Corps and the Band pass t judges' table.



The Freshmen guarantee their "Recipe for Victory."

The Sophomores plan to "Bury the Pointers."

The Juniors serenade the crowd, as they "Pelt the Pointer Sissies."

The Seniors' mad scientist will "Poison the Pointers."

A few veteran softball players, chauffeured by their coach, Mrs. Debbie Holaday, are followed by the high school Beta Club, carrying its insignia and banner.

The J.V. Football Cheerleaders enjoy their ride through the Courthouse.

Beta Club members give their opinion of West Point's chances to win the football game that night: Pointless!

To have a great float, you need a great vehicle pulling it, right? And of course, great drivers like Troy Soles and Jason Smith.

The varsity Football players balance on Michael Hurst's truck for their turn in the parade.

Jennifer Munn 1994 Homecoming Queen!

Mr. Lanford ends the suspense with the crowning of Jennifer Munn as 1994 Homecoming Queen.

The Court and their escorts nervously wait in the stands for halftime to begin.

The 1994 Homecoming Court and Escorts: Roland Foster, Lindsay Thomas, Curt Faulkner, Kelly Faulkner, Robert Ramsey, Elaine Miller, Chris Newsome, Ana Longoria, Queen Jennifer Munn, William Earl Sadler, Nikki Snyder, Scott Dobson, Samantha Martin, Adam Huegel, Leslie Thomas, Jason Smith, Elizabeth Ramsey, Joe Kearney.

The SCA Christmas tree goes up in the cafeteria: The holidays must be getting close!

J.P. Brown puts the finishing touch on the bus: it's "Paris or Bust" over Thanksgiving holidays!

Destination: Paris, France

Vingt-huit élèves et profs visitent Paris en novembre

The countdown started last spring, when twenty-eight students and teachers planned a November trip to Paris. Tuesday of Thanksgiving week finally came, and everyone piled into a school bus for the trip to DC and the flight. For five days, students and teachers visited tourist spots in the City of Light. They toured the Louvre, rode to the top of the Eiffel Tower, and even visited Jim Morrison's grave. The braver students tried French food, and, for one day, traveled south to the fabulous Versailles pala The trip home added some citement: snow in Boston, unscheduled stop in Detroit a a few problems with board passes. But all in all, it was everyone "un voyage merv leux!"

The French travelers: (kneeling) Danny Priest, Chanda White, Sarah Muffelman, Nikki Snyder, Meredith Kinsey, Leslie Thomas, Rhonda Hudgins, Tasha McKelvey, Leslie Diggs, Kelly Downs, Melinda Hunley; (standing) Mr. Van Johnston, Mrs. Nancy Wesson, Mr. Bruce Shumaker, Jason Thompson, Billy Sadler, Glenn Katsuki, Skye Smith, Brian Abrahamson, Heather Marshall, Jennifer Walden, Janet Bing, John Paul Brown, Jenny Traft, Tricia Morgan, Erin Peters, Matt Duff. (missing from the picture: Mr. Ed Green)

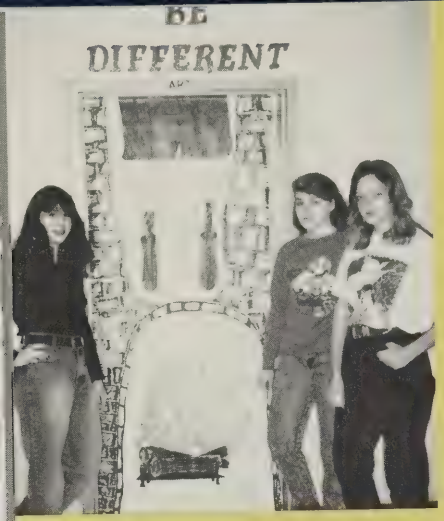
Bread is a fact of life in France, so Sarah Muffelman and J.P. Brown have to sample a "baguette."

One of the sights that you "can't miss" is Rodin's "Le Penseur" (The Thinker), according to Erin Peters, Tricia Morgan, and Jenny Traft.

The classic backdrop for a Paris photo: the Eiffel Tower. And, if you need to buy a memory, there are souvenir towers for sale!

Beneath the Louvre, students find an underground mall, which includes a huge record store called Virgin Records.

Inside the Louvre, which used to be a palace, our travelers see art which covers many ages and cultures up to the modern era, which has its own museum.



The art class asks, "If a Christmas tree fell in the forest, and no one was around, would anyone hear any Christmas music throughout the town?"

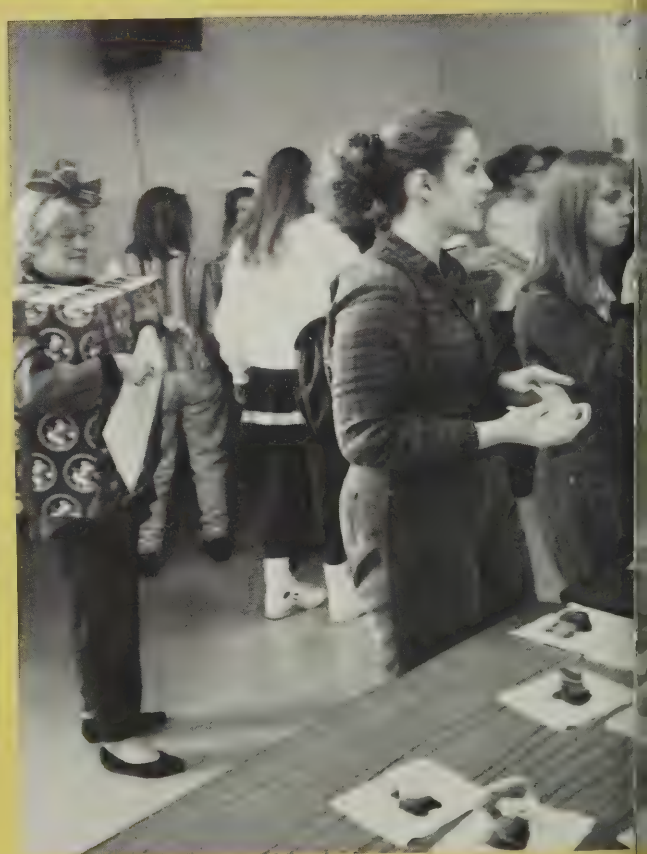
No Grinches Here in our Halls!

TGIF Holiday Celebration New, Different, & FUN!

Although not all doors were decorated, there was a lot of holiday spirit this year! The SCA sponsored "TGIF Friday," and asked everyone to dress up — in the Christmas mood. We had Santas, Christmas trees with working lights, and even a wrapped gift wandering the halls. At the end of the day, everyone took a cookie and punch break, before adjourning to the gym for a pep assem where Sareeta Spriggs won "Best Dressed" prize. On last day of school before cation, the band and chorus formed Christmas music.

On Thursday, the band and chorus presents a concert of Christmas music for us all.

Punch is served in the cafeteria for Juniors and Seniors and in the auditorium for Freshmen and Sophomores on TGIF Friday.



The cookies are supplied by the teachers, so there are lots of varieties and plenty to go around!

As long as Dawn McElligott and Samantha Hardesty can stand near a plug, they light up the halls with Christmas cheer.

The Nurse's bulletin board and part of the class wishes everyone a "Merry Christmas."

Mrs. McDaniel's Dramatic Lit Class presents the play, "The Night of the New & Improved Christmas."

At the assembly after punch and cookies, the top costumes are honored; Sareeta Spriggs and her Santa outfit win the grand prize.

During the last week before break, lots of friends exchange gifts with each other, including Kasey Jackson, Bridget Haynes, and Chrissy Ewell, FHA students in the Marriage & Parenting class prepare snacks for a Valentine's visit from a local pre-school.

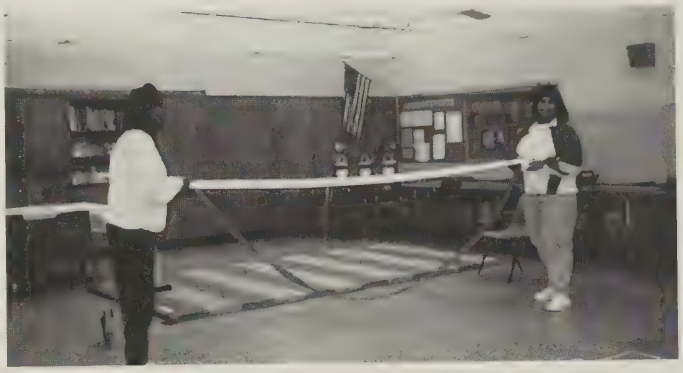
Candace Jarvis and Tonya Davis decorate the home ec room before the Valentine's party.



The Wood Shop students add a coat of paint to the walls of their classroom to brighten things up a little.

Mathews hosts the Academic Challenge District Championship, and has a table full of goodies waiting for the other teams.

If there are strange people and creatures in the halls, it must be BETA Initiation time. They don't look thrilled to find out they can't talk to anyone but Betas today — and will be put on display at lunch!

Vocational Week a Success for All!

Every year the Seniors learn what it's like to be interviewed for a job. They write resumes, they dress for success, and they talk to representatives from nine different area businesses about employment possibilities. The 1995 Mock Interview Awards were given to: Jonathan Lewis (Education), Janet Bing (Nursing), Ben McManus (Law Enforcement), Charles Morgan (Apprentice School), Brad Livermon (SouthTech), Matt Duff (Virginia Power), Brian Callis (Chesapeake Corporation), Ana Longoria (Canon), and Tennille Keatts (Commonwealth College). Honorable mentions were given to: Esther Johnson, Kenneth Akes, Laura Daniel, Heathe Hendley, Jeff Forrester, Sareet Spriggs, Joanie Davis, Jaso Thompson, and Scott Sadler.

Virginia State Police representative Paul Reardon talks about law enforcement with Jason Hall.

Nervous students wait in the auditorium for their turn in the library to interview for their chosen field, as guidance secretary Mrs. Lori Mountford keeps everyone straight.

Commonwealth College interviewer Renatta Marble chats with Tarsha Peterson.

Junior Mike Bennett chats with an auto mechanic about future job possibilities on Careers Day.

Underclassmen get a chance to talk about a variety of jobs. Christy Diggs and Rose Nelson hear about being an Emergency Medical Technician from Jill Webb.

Adam Callis and Roland Foster talk with a forester, who shows them sample tree plantings.

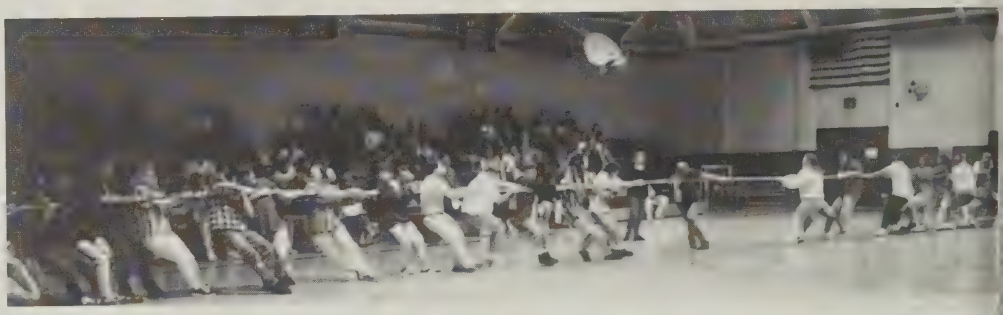
The auditorium is full of representatives and students, on a very successful Careers Day. The only complaint was from the Seniors, who were not allowed to participate.

Mr. Anthony, Mr. Underwood, and Mrs. Holaday try to find bubblegum in the whipped cream, and then try to blow a bubble — but the gum is too gooey!

Students on the parking lot side of the tug-of-war try to use the open door for an advantage.

Underclassmen gather in the auditorium for refreshments before the assembly.

Baseball players work towards the door for leverage.



The Pep Club dance group, Mad Flava, perform their competition dance for the student body to the song, "Tour."

SCA sponsor Mrs. Wesson reacts to the rope battles going on, while MC Matt Griffith waits to announce the next group of competitors.

Juniors and Seniors chow down in the cafeteria on cookies and punch.

Inquiring Minds Need to Know. . .What's Happening!

In the Still of the Nigh

The Juniors began to work weeks before the big day: a huge moon, a sun, a balloon arch. And before we knew it, April 28 had arrived. The girls had dresses, the guys had tuxes or tails, the couples had dinner reservations, and a few even had limos. Tommy Eriksen played the music, and everyone dan until 11:30, when 140 stude and their dates moved to Wellness Center for the Af Prom Party, which lasted u 4:30.

The dancers fill the auditorium floor, in couples, singles, and groups.

The DJ plays music that's easy to d to, and the floor is crowded most o night.

The prize for longest distance traveled goes to Matt Griffith's date, Katie Gottermeyer, who lives in Pittsburg.

The picture room in the cafeteria is a busy place; Rhonda Hudgins and Brad Livermon get their picture done early in the evening.

The cafeteria becomes a lounge, for a bite to eat, for a place to visit, and for a picture memory.

Couples take a few minutes to chat between dances.

Mindy Hunley and Kennetha Akes are having a time to remember.

This group is just waiting for the right song to get them on the dance floor.

Prom isn't just for dancing. Sometimes it's a sing along.

A Senior's Time in the Spotlight: The Grand March!

The girls line up on one side of the auditorium, waiting for their names to be called.

The first couple introduced: Senior president Brian Callis and his date, Shannon Jarvis.

The Grand March is an exciting time for everyone!

Senior couple Cathy Montague and Jamie Foster are introduced to the crowd.

After each introduction and the March, Seniors and dates line up to watch their classmates make the same walk.

By 7:00 P.M. the soon-to-be Grads gather in the parking lot; Sareeta Spriggs adjusts Kennetha Akes' tassel for her, so that everything is PERFECT!

The Graduating Class of 1995:

"Now We're Out of School. . .We're Free. . .Free At Last!"

At 7:30 P.M. seventy-two candidates for graduation marched into the gym to "Pomp and Circumstance," played by the Concert Band. After a welcome by Senior President Brian Callis, Salutatorian Jennifer Wood presented her address. Assistant Principal Mr. Robert Fraser recognized award recipients, and Guidance Director Mr. Thomas Dutton presented scholarships to forty-seven per cent of the class. After Valedictorian Jeff Forrester's speech, and more music, Brian Callis again took the podium to present a Gift to the school: a fund for much needed auditorium shades. Superintendent Mr. Harry Ward had a few remarks, and then, the big eve Mr. John Lanford handed out D plomas! At 8:51 seventy-t GRADUATES marched ba out of the gym, and into th futures.

There's just enough time to discuss a last important concepts before lining u

The line-up falls together: officers first, then the other classmates alphabetically. Now, it's just a matter of a few minutes to wait before leaving for the gym.

The first in line. . .NO! Someone has to come at the end of the alphabet: White, Williamson, Wood, Zabel! As long as they get that diploma, they don't care!

In an emotional Salutatory, Jen nifer Wood tells classmates an audience that "One step of ou lives is now coming to an end Everyday we must be ready t fight all obstacles. (We) mus fight our own fears an emotions. . .keep our spirits high and do the best we can do!"

Thirty-four Grads are surprised to receive scholarships and grants for a total of $156,000. The Gazette-Journal selects Scott Sadler for its award.

Senior Band members join their classmates for one final number, "Covington Square."

Seventy-two Graduates have the honor — and pleasure - of moving their tassel from one side to the other. It's tough to do, with hands full of confetti to toss, too!

It's been thirteen years in the making — and the CELEBRATION begins! The Class of '95 can now call themselves the Alumni Class of '95!

In his Valedictory Address, Jeff Forrester sounds relieved. "Those of us who forget the little things we learned are bound to repeat them. We learned lessons in everyday life — experiences that shape our lives. Now we're out of school. . .All responsibility has been lifted (at least for the summer)! We're free. . .free at last!"

Inquiring Minds Need to Know About US!

The Marching Band takes the field to entertain the crowd during half-time of all of the home football games.

The FBLA, including Power Rangers and Big Bird, visits Lee-Jackson Elementary School to perform skits for their American Education Project.

Us. What do we know about us?

We had a State Champ in Wrestling (Jonathan Lewis, Heavyweight), and an Honorable Mention All-State in Volleyball (Sarah Christopher). The FBLA took first place in State and was named an Honor Chapter, and brought home first place trophies (Rebecca Morgan, Introduction to Business; Jamie Edwards, Job Description Manual; BCA Class, Community Service Project). Rachel Christopher placed second in State Forensics i Poetry.

Students also traveled. . .to Pari France for a week. The Ski Club skiie Wintergreen and went to Snowsho West Virginia for a long weekend. Th Band marched in Myrtle Beach, Sout Carolina, and brought home trophi (second in Parade and Flag, third in Co cert).

Serena Smedley's ankles needed taping before every Varsity Basketball game; Coach Brown makes sure it's taken care of.

Some of our tour guides are pretty wild creatures. You'll see plenty of pretty wild sights on our Nature Trails. Chesapeake maintains three nature trails in Virginia where you can discover a variety of plants, flowers, trees, and other interesting attractions. In addition to seeing such sights as the Devil's Walkingstick and the Tree-of-Heaven, you just might have a deer or a raccoon or a wild turkey as your companion. Open every day until sunset, our self-guided walking tours cover miles of well marked trails in New Kent, Prince Edward, or Lancaster Counties of Virginia. The New Kent Nature Trail is located on Route 33, about 4 miles west of West Point. The Prince Edward Trail is on Route 15, about 8 miles south of Farmville, and the Lancaster Nature Trail is on Route 3, one mile west of Lancaster Courthouse. So take a walk on the wild side.
